

March ??, 2025

‘For our own good,’ that’s what they had always told us! It sounded so righteous, so true, so forward; they were merely buzzwords. So simple the beginning, so disastrous the end. Whatever we did we did with righteous indignation towards the others. People were hurt, people were killed, there was nothing good about it, it was pure evil. Liberty destroyed for the illusion of security, but the end was even worse than that!

Days of confusion and uncertainty are a dangerous time for a government, eventually something will be made up to account for new emergency powers, laws, rules, groups, taxes, it hits the point of no return eventually leading into what has happened the last five years. I must confess that I have done terrible things all under the guise of greatness, of ‘moving forward.’ For what it’s worth to those I’ve done wrong, killed, silenced, I was wrong, we were all wrong, all of my team, all of us dead wrong! My team and I went rogue a few months ago now, doing our best to stay in hiding, fearing for ourselves as much as the common world citizen.

Myself, Turner, Cruz, the rest, we were all just following orders, that’s what we said, that’s what we were told, that’s what we told everyone! It was true on the surface, no doubt, but what orders were we really following? Why didn’t we question it sooner, why didn’t anyone question it? I guess a few did, but it was up to us, up to ME to stop it, to silence them. The world was at a breaking point, and everyone knew that it couldn’t last.

I guess I should probably introduce myself here. My name is Robert Dyson, my badge number is F2210998, I am a Federal officer of what was formerly known as FEMA, the Federal Emergency Management Agency. Now, no agency really has any name, our uniforms don’t even have patches or badges anymore, there is no way to identify us, there is no sense of pride, there is no sense of anything. We are robots; we are trained in one thing and one thing only, conquering and killing! I don’t know where or when exactly it all turned, I guess that’s how it works really, like a sunset, light- liberty- slowly fading; little things change over time and one day everything is different, liberty is gone, bit by bit. Everything that I did was always for the worse yet everyone, even me, - 1 - truly believed that it was all good!

The year is 2025, sometime in March. I write this to anybody willing to read it, I write this hoping that it will change hearts or minds, I don’t know, it may be a shot in the dark, it may never get read by anyone again, but I need to write it down, it’s cathartic, it is truth.

I don’t know how long it will go; I don’t know how long I’ll last. Truth be told, I don’t know how much longer the world will last, God indeed help those who remain after the purges of this year are up; hell on earth has just begun.

I’ll try to get the history of this ailment of society out there, I’ll try to give all the information that I know personally and attach whatever I can for the readers of this document, there’s not much physical proof of any of this anymore, it’s mostly hearsay, the world committee closely watches and controls all media.

In reality, there isn't much that we can do, there used to be millions of FEMA officers, many have since disappeared, been killed, or moved into positions of so called power, a sham of an office, driven forward by the world community committee, our name for it, no one knows what they really call themselves, once they gained power, they stopped talking, no news, nothing; any input from the common man was pointless, they had the world what else could they want? They had us protecting them, doing their dirty work, keeping the masses enslaved and silent, those who spoke up or refused were sent to camps where I will confess, many died. The rest were entertained with pointless TV, free drugs, free sex, free everything, the government trying to give everyone everything that they wanted to shut them up.

But I digress, I'm getting ahead of myself, I'll get back to that later. The start of all of this was simple. They educated us at the FEMA training and education center in Quantico, VA about all of it, though it wasn't taught as any sort of a bad thing.

When the United States- if anyone remembers that term anymore- was formed, it was formed with the intrinsic ability to stop and prevent tyranny, rights and protections for its citizens. The 'founders,' an old school word, wrote down a long list of warnings, many of which were quickly ignored.

By the mid 1800's, the Federal government was already establishing it's power over the states, and the states went to war over it, and once the civil war was over, the states sat back and took their ass whooping, they took the top down intrusion. Now of course, FEMA taught us that it was a good thing that the Federal government stepped in, telling us that states and people having that much power over themselves was a very bad thing and needed to be stifled. Oh God, how we were wrong.

Of course, it only got worse as history marched on. The gold standard was done away with, and replaced by a private so-called Federal bank, and people fell for it. How dumb were people back then? Even President Wilson as much as apologized on his deathbed about it. To allow a private company to print and give money to the U.S. and then have the U.S. pay them back with interest? It's insanity! I remember my grandfather telling me that it only took the U.S. 20 years to go into bankruptcy and start taking all of its money from the brand new private bank!

Though, none of that was the ultimate worst, the New World Order was the ultimate end to everything! Oh, and it was very real; anybody who used to bring it up was laughed off as a 'conspiracy theorist,' a kook. No one is laughing about it now! It started with the League of Nations, it failed, thank God. But the rich power mongers who were behind it still wanted global rule, not even money, just power. I cannot believe I fell for it, I cannot believe that I laughed and called those people crazy, and later I killed them for it! They were right all along!

The globalists got their way once they perpetrated and violently ended World War II. They got the UN, the bastards got their foot in the damn door, and the world sat idly by and watched it happen. Oh, and we were sold on it too; it was for the children, for the better good of the world, this unity would save the planet! Oh, how they lied. Power begets only one thing, power! Once a man tastes it, he will only take it as far as he can go. But I can't even call these people men, they were monsters, cowards, they were all plain evil, there was no one good left in power! I do not claim to know who the antichrist is, but I do know that he will come from the bloodline of these evil monsters!

They were rich, they controlled everything, every factory, all the natural resources of the world, everything, nothing was outside their realm, they did terrible things all so they could take control of something else.

The U.S. was a great country that went to shit fast. Tyranny came quickly, with force, with an overwhelming majority of Americans wanting it, welcoming it, enjoying it. People got free stuff; daddy government took care of them. Those who raised any objection at all to it were called crazy, they were called terrorists and eventually they were killed.

The New World Order was the end of it all, everything that happened was planned from them, no matter what the consequences; they didn't care who they killed, hurt, or left abandoned, as long as they got what they wanted out of their self made ordeals. The signs were everywhere, nobody bothered to read them. The Gulf of Tonkin incident, the USS Liberty, OPERATION NORTHWOODS, OPERATION AJAX, OPERATION GLADIO, all the leaks of the 2000's, it was all real, it was all true, it was all frightening!

Now of course most of the U.S. public wasn't made aware of these things until much later on, but there were still good people in power at that who could have said something, stopped it, many deciding to turn their blind eyes to it. President John Fitzgerald Kennedy was the last real American president who stood up to it all and he was killed for it!

Now we move to September 11, 2001, when FEMA and the DHS came into major play in the U.S., when I came on board. I started as nothing more than boots on the ground, a helper, I helped people, or so I was told. I now know that it was nothing more than a PR stunt, a way to give us a good image, the magazines were filled with pictures of us handing out water, medical supplies, whatever those in need needed; it looked good, it felt good, there was a odd spirit of kindness and goodness that came out of it. Even to this day there is a team of 50 or so who does that 'good for PR' action, but the real monster loomed underneath that fun friendly exterior.

After 9/11, it was all about terrorism, all about who could be and might be a terrorist. I'm pretty sure that at some point, every American citizen fit into one of the categories and didn't even know it. It was sickening; everyone should have known that something was wrong. 2005, hurricane Katrina, it took days just to get us water bottle jockeys out there, but people said nothing! Then the National Guard came in throwing the Patriot Act in peoples faces, taking guns, going door-to-door, banging and entering, no warrants, it was madness. I don't know why nobody spoke up but it's too late now!

Even FEMA through executive order was allowed to take control of power and gas companies, farms, transportation, everything, we were to be the marshal law enforcers!

It wasn't long after, maybe 2008, that me along with many others were approached about taking up a more 'important' role in FEMA. I gladly said yes, still filled with that spirit and drive that I was doing something good for America. I was in the first class of 500, we were the first, they told us to have pride, we were doing the right thing, we were serving the greater good, we could be flown anywhere in the world to assist with 'relief efforts,' though there were no specifics as to what those efforts would be. None of us dared ask why? Why would we go around the world when FEMA was a domestic agency? We were so naïve. The New World Order was starting to take shape right under our noses, and we stood by and watched it.

America had become a police state, the Patriot Act, the NDAA, indefinite detentions for any reason or no reason at all. Even FEMA had started to establish 'relief camps.' Those of us who had undergone training were taught to guard the camps, we were taught how to clear buildings, how to handle prisoners, how to deal with unruly crowds, and the most training focused on how to deal with so called terrorists; they were gun owners, veterans, Christians. We were never directly told of the plans that they had for us, they just needed us to be brainwashed enough into doing what they told us to do when the day came.

Of course there was Obama, he was popular, he quelled fears for a time, but he did something that really got our bosses angered. He, though not directly, sold many millions of firearms. That was our first target, firearm owners, that was the training, that was the National Guard during Katrina, they were gauging how well it would work, what type if any resistance would be seen (sadly, none at all), developing any needed tactics and then passing it all on to us, the FEMA task force.

It was a downhill ride from there, the New World Order, via the UN, ordered that peoples of all member nations be disarmed, 'guns are no part of an advanced world' they told everyone, and many millions ignorantly cheered in agreement. A few asked why, if they were not needed, the military and FEMA carried them, but those people were silenced, detained for rabble rousing and terrorism. The first and second amendments were the toughest to go, the fourth, fifth, sixth, and eighth were nothing, nobody fought it, they believed every lie, they actually thought that they were doing the right thing!

I'm not sure when exactly it was, late 2010's probably, we started confiscations, barging into people's houses at two in the morning and taking guns. It was exhilarating, their brainwashing worked, I loved it, I was doing the world a favor, getting rid of guns, all the while swinging mine in the frightened faces of children, parents, teens, everyone who owned a gun, even many who didn't. We took them, so many, some people fought back, our teams lost a few, there were a few major standoffs, whole towns that fortified themselves, but most sat back and let us do it with no fight at all, smiling and cheering about their freedom and protection all the way. Those who were the biggest troublemakers were put into the camps to be 'watched.' Many died, there was torture, there was experimentation, I cannot say that I am proud of what I did in those days, especially during the revolution, but it happened, it's history that no one will ever know of fully.

Once the guns were gone, at least most of them as there were a few still around that we knew about, we moved onto what in reality was reeducation. Those at the camps were forced to take psychotropics, Prozac and others, we turned them into vegetables, willing to do anything we told them, able to believe anything we said. A few resisted and were taken to a special camp where experiments were done trying to find drugs and other methods of brainwashing for them as well. I never saw those camps, I'm glad, I don't want to know, I can't sleep at night knowing what I did at the Arizona camp I was stationed at. The things that were done to people, cramming them into cages like animals, feeding them essentially nothing, sleep deprivation tactics, drugging, and those who started trouble were killed! Those were our orders, to kill them!

Oh, if only people knew, they had their warnings long before, they ignored them, I feel sorry in a way, but at the same time all of it was their fault, the New World Order was completely stoppable!

That brings us mostly to today, I naturally had to leave out A LOT, there is no way that I can cover everything that happened, every warning that the people had, all of it, but I got the big stuff. The New World Order won, and won big time, those who are left cannot speak out, they will be killed, they are slaves to a 200 strong elite who rule it all. I am here today because my team came across the most frightening thing we have seen in a while, and that's saying a lot considering what we have done in the last 5 years!

We found documents, plans, detailing the need for a world population reduction, and nobody, except for the elite, were safe from it, even my team, even all of FEMA! For many years, the so called environmental movement was used to control the masses, to force them to adhere to strict, bizarre, and arbitrary rules, none of it at all having to do with helping or saving the environment, but merely a control tactic, a way of levying a plethora of new taxes, taxes on CO2, the air that we exhale! How stupid were people that we all fell for paying money for breathing the air around us. Soon, land was being grabbed up for 'public' use, eminent domain it was called. It was no public use of course, just a way to force people out and into controlled cities, FEMA guards abounded, combined with local law enforcement and the military. It was corrupt, it was trying, it scared even me, and I was on the 'inside,' but I dared not speak out for fear of being killed myself, no one under the elite were immune from anything!

Back on topic though, Roberts, our comm.'s guy, he intercepted a memo, an order, detailing the immediate reduction of the population of planet earth by at least 80%, no one was safe, it could be any of us. That's when it happened, we were discovered, I do not know how, but somehow, they knew, they knew that we had seen it, they wanted us killed. We do not exist; we are on the run, a criminal life that just four weeks ago we were on the other side of! We do okay most days, the drones are the most difficult part, they are hard to spot and they can follow for days! We only successfully shot down one.

I have no doubt in my mind that we will be caught and killed in our last days here, we're prepared for it, I'd rather martyr myself for the cause of justice than the cause of the New World Order. I only hope now that someone, anyone will find this and read it, I wish that I could send it to the past, stop this from ever starting, but I cannot. Whoever reads this, there is hope, liberty and justice for all can still exist, the fate of the world can indeed be changed by the will of one man! Do not loose hope, FEMA can be brought down, the New World Order can be brought down eventually, it will not be an easy or short fight.

None of this was for the greater good, or for the children, the face of greed and the lies of tyrants abound, they are easy, they sound simple and plain. Evil always wears the mask of greatness. The greed of life will eventually get these scum, they will not prevail, humankind will be its own downfall, death and destruction is only the start! I hope that the 80% fares a near sight better that we will.
